Your benefits

- Expert appraisals of the environmental, health & safety aspects of properties and investments, local regulatory atmosphere and trends;
- Environmental experts fully integrated into the transaction process to support closely your project team and stakeholders, including your legal, insurance and financial advisors ;
- Provide you with the environmental database ready to be implemented in the project's virtual data room;
- Active support all the way to the closing;
- Informed decision-making to help avoid or minimize potential future environmental liability issues and costs.

Ginger BURGEAP approach

Our professionals provide a solid framework for decision-making, whatever the scale of the project or investment, the phase of the life cycle or the region of the world.

We conduct environmental due diligence according to international standards as well as national regulations and guidelines:

- ASTM E1527-21 for phase 1 audits
- ASTM 1903-19 for phase 2.

In phase 2, field investigations comply at least with the requirements of French standard AFNOR X31620 (or equivalent local standards).
